

Tuberculosis Caused 170 Deaths in Christian County IN ONE YEAR

One death in every four when the death at the Western Kentucky Insane Asylum are excluded. No further argument is needed to urge that the county be declared a district for the erection of a tuberculosis sanatorium. A magnificent hospital is not contemplated—nor deemed advisable—by those who are pushing this question. A good farm, with a sunny hillside, where the necessary "shacks" may cluster about an administration building, these to be added at no great cost the as needs develop. Taxes may not be increased to cover the cost. The main facts staring us in the face are these: Kentucky has the highest death rate from consumption in the United States. Christian county has the highest death rate in the state.

What Are YOU Going to Say, Mr. Voter?

Copy-write Editorials.

It begins to look like Huerta would have to be killed in order to get rid of him.

Boston man broke out a $50 bill in a restaurant that charged him 15 cents for only 42 baked beans.

Bowling Green's total registration is 2,461, including 106 women. Hopkinsville's is 2,226, including 26 women.

Election have more than once been decided in Christian County by one vote. First he then yourself and then see that your neighbor has voted.

The body of Patrick Dugan, buried in 1904, was exhumed at Baltimore for re-interment and found to be completely petrified, clothes and all.

Mrs. Pankhurst spoke in Nashville Thursday night to a crowd of nearly 4,000. Her address was a tale of woes and a narrative of her militant exploits.

Vote for both of the constitutional amendments and especially No. 2, which changes the tax system. And then go further down the column and vote for the Sanatorium district.

Now that Huerta has made a farce of the election called to choose a President of Mexico, terrorizing all who were not willing to vote for themselves, although he claimed not to be a candidate, it is up to Uncle Sam to take notice of the Dictator's high handed proceedings. With the consent of other nations, President Wilson is preparing to read the riot act to Huerta and his gang.

Mrs. T. C. Caldwell, of McBurn, who has been suffering from an internal disorder for twelve years, was operated on by Fayetteville, Tenn., physicians Thursday, who removed a tumor and two appendices, one on each side. So far as can be learned this is the first case on record of a patient having more than one appendix. Of course she had them, because the operating doctors are practicing in a state that is as dry as powder horn.

The untimely death of Rev. J. N. Prestridge, D. D. is an irreparable loss to the Baptist denomination of America. Since he had been pastor of the Baptist church at Hopkinsville from 1884 to 1889 his friends had watched his rise to distinction with a just pride in his achievements. He spent a part of his vacation every year with the family of his father-in-law, Dr. Clardy, in this county and was quite well known here and was esteemed by many friends outside of religious circles. His paper, the Baptist World, was widely read in this county and Dr. Prestridge made it a rule to attend the Baptist Associations all over this section, and in fact all over the state. He was useful in every department of church work and his clear head and wise counsel were helpful in every gathering where he found himself. His last public appearance in this vicinity was at the meeting of Bethel Association at Auburn a few weeks ago and he appeared then to be in the best of health and took an active part in all discussions. As a minister, an editor and a consecrated leader in church work, his place will be hard to fill. It is hard to understand God's wisdom in removing such a man in the midst of his career of usefulness and devotion.

FINN MAKES FINE SPEECH

In Washington Wednesday As An Expert In Railroad Matters.

THE COMPLICATED QUESTION.

Was Elucidated By The Brainy Young Kentucky Commissioner.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The most absorbing question considered by the Supreme Court of the United States during the present year, the line of demarcation between the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the State Railroad Commissions, was discussed lengthily and illuminatingly before the twenty-fifth annual convention of the National Association of State Railway Commissioners here Wednesday by Laurence B. Finn, chairman of the Railroad Commission of Kentucky. With the skill of an expert on railroad rates, Mr. Finn led his audience of fellow railroad-rate experts through devious and straight paths as he dealt with this complex subject from various viewpoints. Mr. Finn's comment was an elucidation even in the light of the famous decision of the Supreme Court in the Minnesota rate cases, wherein Mr. Justice Hughes, speaking for the high tribunal, showed how interstate rates virtually may be interfered with by State authorities, or rather, that the power to regulate interstate traffic lies wholly with the State Commission.

Mr. Finn is the first vice president of the twenty-five-year-old organization now meeting here, and is directly in line for the presidency, in fact, is slated to succeed to that exalted office. He is also a member of the Executive Committee.

MAIL HANDLERS

At The Postoffice Kept Busy All The Time.

So many passenger trains come in now, that with the irregularity of arrivals that has prevailed for some time and increasing business the mail handlers at the postoffice are continuously employed. They have to work hard all the time, as well as over hours in order to give the public the service demanded by the department. Under these conditions the force has done remarkably well, but it seems to some people that the department could consistently employ more help. The parcels post and banking business demands more clerks, and if the two businesses now conducted by the Government are as large as reported, there is need of more men.

19 Marriage Licenses.

During the month of October the County Clerk issued 19 marriage licenses. The last one was issued on the 25th.

THOMPSON WENT HIGH

And Performed Various Stunts While Up in the Air.

MORE HIGH FLIGHTS TO-DAY

Chilly Weather a Handicap To a Large Attendance.

Aviator DeLloyd Thompson made an ascension at 3:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon, at the fair grounds, in his Day Baby Tractor. It was a success in every way. He went up to an elevation of 1,000 to 1,500 feet and performed many fancy stunts in the air, winding up by gliding to near the ground with his engine shut off, sweeping close to the earth and then rising again.

The weather was clear and cold and only one flight was made.

Another exhibition was given yesterday afternoon with the weather conditions still unfavorable, as it was too cold to be pleasant.

The meeting is expected to conclude with further flights today, by DeLloyd Thompson and N. M. McGuire.

EFFECTIVE TODAY

Is Law Enforcing the Migratory Bird Regulations.

Following the proclamation of the President of the United States establishing regulations for the protection of migratory birds, the Department of Agriculture has set in motion machinery to make these regulations effective in every State on Nov. 1, the date set for the operation of the proclamation.

Among the birds protected by the regulations are the brant, wild geese, swan, cranes of various species, rail, several kinds of shore birds, pigeon, dove, wild pigeon, bobolink, catbird, chickadee, cuckoo, flicker, flycatcher, grosbeak, humming bird, kinglet, martin, meadow lark, night hawk, nuthatches, oriole, robin, shrike, swallow, swift, thrush, warbler, whippoorwill, woodpecker and wren.

A close season until Sept. 1, 1918, is established on such migratory game birds as the band-tailed pigeon, the little brown sandhill whooping crane, swan and curlew and on all shore birds except the black breasted and golden plover, Wilson or jack snipe, woodcock and yellowlegs. A close season until the same date is also established on wood ducks in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kentucky, California, Oregon, and Washington; on rails in California and Vermont, and on woodcock in Illinois and Missouri.

ORATORS ON THE STUMP

Both Sides Are Whooping Them Up In the Grand Finish.

DEMOCRATS ARE IN THE LEAD

John Feland's Great Stunt Was Pulled Off Yesterday Afternoon.

Democrats filled their published appointments yesterday at Edwards' Mill and Palmyra, having good audiences at both places.

One big rally is scheduled for this afternoon at Crofton and then all hands will round up for a finish in the city Monday.

It looks good for the Democrats and the general opinion is that a big victory is in store for the whole ticket.

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

The Republican Rally at the tabernacle was held yesterday afternoon as scheduled and a good crowd including many Democrats, turned out, including a sprinkling of ladies. Judge Jas. Breathitt excused himself from speaking, saying he was not well and gave way to Judge W. T. Fowler, who made a vigorous denial of the charges in the Barnes letter and entered into a detailed defense of his former administration.

John Feland was the main orator and his monologue, "Since I've Been Gone" was begun at 3 o'clock and continued in Mr. Feland's entertaining style for an hour or more. Everybody likes to hear John talk, but he seldom changes the votes.

MANAGER HOLLAND'S

Accident Thursday Is Not At All Serious.

While bossing the cleaning up of the Opera House Thursday afternoon Manager R. H. Holland received a fall and had a small bone broken in one of his arms. The injury does not amount to much and Mr. Holland, the man who successfully managed the baseball club last season and has had 27 years' experience in the theatrical business, is still able to be everywhere at once as usual.

Gone To Oklahoma.

Dr. H. G. Cunningham, a prominent dentist of Cadiz, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Oklahoma City, where he will make his future home. The Doctor says Trigg will go Democratic by 400, the usual majority, next Tuesday. He did not like to leave his home town on the eve of the election, but was compelled to on account of the Oklahoma State Board of Dentists meeting next Monday and he will have to stand an examination by the Board.

Let every Democrat do his duty and victory is certain.

LAI D TO REST IN RIVERSIDE

Body of Rev. Dr. J. N. Prestridge Buried Here Yesterday.

WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

Dr. Prestridge Was Known By Everybody Here and Was Very Popular.

The body of Rev. J. N. Prestridge arrived here yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and the burial took place from the Louisville & Nashville depot. The following pallbearers met the train: Thos. W. Long, M. C. Forbes, George D. Dalton, T. C. Underwood, F. L. Waller and H. H. Abernathy.

The body was accompanied by Rev. J. R. Sampey, Mrs. Prestridge and by Mrs. J. W. Henry and Miss Annie Bacon Clardy, who went to Louisville Wednesday night to be with Mrs. Prestridge.

The train bearing the body arrived at 11 o'clock and brief services were held at the grave in Riverside Cemetery. After the casket was lowered into the grave the opening was covered with the floral offerings, the vault to be completed later by the masons. Rev. Dr. J. R. Sampey, who came from Louisville with the funeral party, made a few appropriate and highly eulogistic remarks. He said no man living today was better known all over the Christian world than Dr. Prestridge. He had personal friends in almost every foreign country, through his leadership in the Baptist World's Alliance, to which the last ten years of his useful life had been devoted.

In England, Russia, Australia and the world over he had personal correspondence and in every land almost the grief we share in his death will be shared by loving friends. He was a man of high ideals, optimistic spirit and unbounded faith. Genial and sunny in his disposition, kind and loving in his impulses, he had as many friends as any man alive in the Baptist church with its millions of members. His whole life was keyed to the central idea of evangelizing the whole world for Christ. His place cannot be filled until God raises up and trains some man for the work Dr. Prestridge laid down when the gates opened as he sat in his chair after breakfast Wednesday morning. He was 60 years old as we reckon time, but his great work will endure while time shall last.

Rev. Dr. Dulin, of Bowling Green, concluded the service with a feeling prayer. Besides Dr. Dulin, Mr. Ben Proctor, of Bowling Green, Dr. T. A. Johnson and Mrs. Vanderveer, Dr. Prestridge's sister, came with Mrs. Prestridge.

Details of His Death.

The Courier-Journal of Thursday contained the following details of Dr. Prestridge's death:

The Rev. Dr. John Newton Prestridge, president and founder of the

HISTORY OF MUHLENBERG

Otto A. Rothert, of Louisville, Is The Author of The Volume.

OVER 200 ILLUSTRATIONS.

Most Complete History Ever Published of Any County In Kentucky.

A valuable addition to the pioneer history of Western Kentucky has been contributed by Otto A. Rothert, of Louisville, in a comprehensive history of Muhlenberg county. The author is a member of the Filson Club, the State Historical Society, the American Historical Association, the International Society of Archaeologists, etc. The history was written solely because of the interest and pleasure taken in the work. It pertains principally to the history of the county from its beginning to 1875, but also brings the record more briefly up to the present time. Mr. Rothert is a young man of high ideals. He is not a resident of Muhlenberg but his family owns extensive timber lands in the county and during his temporary visits there he became interested and concluded to write a book that would give them a proper place in Kentucky history. It was the work of seven years, during which the author wrote at leisure times. The book is a fine volume of 500 pages and 240 illustrations. It is the best county history we have ever seen, not only in neatness, compactness and thoroughness, but also in its interesting illustrations and literary style. It is an ideal county history and will serve as a good model for any one writing a county history. This fact and the fact that it contains much of general interest assures it a place in leading libraries. In addition to its historical value the book contains some interesting archaeological material. A few pages are devoted to the evidences of prehistoric men in Muhlenberg county and it gives a picture of a mound and some stone relics found in the county.

Many of the pictures are of old citizens. There are local traditions, stories and incidents familiar to every Muhlenberger. One chapter is devoted to "Lonz Powers," the book written by James Weir, of Greenville, 63 years ago, dealing with the career and execution of Alonzo Pennington in 1846. Many of the scenes in the book were in Muhlenberg, though Pennington lived in Christian county. This part of the history is especially interesting.

Muhlenberg county will be envied by every other county in Kentucky, for no other county has such a record of its early settlement and pioneer settlers.

The book is handsomely bound in dark red cloth and is from the press of Jno. P. Morton & Co., Louisville. It is printed on super-calendered paper and will be forwarded, postage paid, on receipt of the price, $5, by Mr. Otto A. Rothert, 132 East Gray street, Louisville, Ky. The edition is limited and only those who act promptly will be assured of getting a copy.

IS KENTUCKY IN NEED OF THE TAX REFORM?

What Happened in "THE COW COUNTIES" in California and Why "THE DOG TAX COUNTIES" in Kentucky
Should Emulate Their Example

Until a few years ago the State of California was suffering under the same system of taxation which prevails in Kentucky although many efforts had been made to change it.

The average citizen is opposed to innovations as a general proposition and while the state suffered and the burden of taxation fell heavily on the small property owner, as it does in Kentucky, it was hard to arouse the people and capitalistic classes managed to keep the old law in effect and went on hiding their personal property and escaping taxation, as they do in Kentucky.

"Why is this man working so hard?"
"To get more land to pay MORE taxes."

A simple careless expression in a San Francisco newspaper caused a revolution of feeling and brought about the change which all Californians are now proud of.

The newspaper referred to printed an article to the effect that the same old Constitutional Amendment would be voted on at the November election and added facetiously that "the Cow Counties" would probably vote for it,
and treated it as a joke.

The newspaper evidently underestimated the power of "the Cow Counties" as this little attempt at witicism made "the Cow Counties" sit up and take notice.

The people in "the Cow Counties" commenced to ask themselves: Why is it that farm lands and town property pay the bulk of taxes? Why are the owners of stocks, bonds, notes and other personal property able to get off scot free?

Have we a uniform system of taxation in practice as well as in name?
And such like questions.

Well, the result was "the Cow Counties" in California determined to throw off the yoke and the amendment was overwhelmingly carried.

"Why is this man working so hard?"
"To hide his property and pay NO
taxes."

The same conditions exist in Kentucky to-day and the same opportunity for a change presents itself and it is time for "the Cow Counties" in Kentucky to show their power and force a fair division of taxation.

By subjecting the millions of dollars of personal property to the payment of taxes, farms and town lots would be relieved as in other states with modern tax laws. In Pennsylvania there is no state tax on farm lands and town lots because the revenue from stocks, bonds and notes is sufficient for the purpose.

The dog tax in Kentucky produced more revenue in 1912 ($127,651) than all the taxes from bonds ($32,425), cash in banks ($64,340), and stocks in corporations ($14,000); total $110,665, while farm lands and town lots and improvements paid $3,177,360.

"The Dog Tax" Counties in Kentucky are in the same fix as "the Cow Counties" were in California and it is high time to quit barking and commence biting. A vote for the tax amendment at the November election will make the other fellow do some howling, if "the Dog Tax" counties will only do their duty and vote for the amendment and enable the legislature to frame laws to make all classes of property pay their legitimate share of taxation.

Extract From Report of State Tax Commission.

"We recommend, that the proposed Constitutional Amendment should be adopted by the voters of the state.

"This Amendment has been carefully drawn, its provisions are clear and plain.

"It follows precedents which have been tried and proved successful in other states.

"It authorizes practical changes, which, in our judgment, if adopted, will increase revenue, remove restrictions now handicapping valuable enterprises, and place Kentucky upon a fair plane with other states which have shown marked progress and prosperity, as a result of sane and sound revenue laws.

"It provides that any and all changes made thereunder in our tax laws up to 1917 must be approved by the people themselves after passage by the legislature and their approval may be made a condition after that time, so that the whole matter rests in the hands of the people.

"We consider the amendment necessary in order to enable the legislature to take the initiative in any effective revision of the revenue laws of the state, which have been condemned by the then State Tax Commissions and criticised annually by the State Equalization Board.

Medium's Fraud Exposed.
At a spiritualist seance at Osuna, Spain, a parrot, which had been trained to imitate the voice of a nun, long dead, and which had been hidden behind voluminous draperies, fluttered down on the table. The medium was mobbed by the company and seriously injured.

Taxes Not To Be Increased.

In the discussion recently aroused by the campaign to declare Christian county a Tuberculosis Sanatorium District, the questions most frequently asked are these: What will it cost? Where is the money to come from? Will it increase our county taxes?

Let us answer these questions in reverse order.

Will it increase our county taxes? The county tax is now and has been for some years at the constitutional limit of 50 cents on the $100.00 and cannot be raised without a specific amendment to that part of the State Constitution. Neither a vote by the people of Christian county nor even an act of the State Legislature can increase the county tax above the constitutional limit.

The necessary funds must be provided from the tax already levied or to be levied by the Fiscal Court. The cost will not be prohibited, nor is it necessary to complete the equipment in one year.

Consider that the consumptive needs principally good food, fresh air, sunlight, rest and careful supervision.

A Christian county sunny hillside will make an ideal place. After providing the administration building, the small houses in which the patients reside may be added as the needs of the institution grows.

No one should refrain from giving his endorsement to the proposition. It is feasible, it is practical and then—there's no other way!

National A. S. of E.

The National Society of Equity, one of the most important organizations of farmers in the country, will hold its annual session at Owensboro, Ky., December 8 and the occasion will be a notable one for the farmers of Western Kentucky. The convention will attract visitors from far and wide, many of them prominent leaders in the movement to organize the farmers upon a safe, sane and permanent basis. Christian county will be represented.

GROUP OF ACTIVE MUSCLES

Wonderful Piece of Anatomy Is the Tongue—Proof of Man's Descent From Vegetarians.

The tongue is really a group of muscles, some running from root to tip, others crossways. Any one of these muscles can be used separately or in combination with the others, so that we can move the whole tongue in any direction—lengthen or shorten it, hollow or arch it.

The tongue is moistened by the mucus made by the mucous membrane that lines the mouth and by saliva from the salivary glands. The mucous of the mouth is controlled by the nervous system and can be greatly disturbed by worry or fear. That is why when we are very much worried or suddenly frightened our mouths become so dry we can hardly swallow.

The surface of the tongue is closely covered with little points. In each one of these points is the end of a nerve of taste that runs from the brain to the tongue. These little points are called taste buds, and they are most abundant on the sides and the tip of the tongue. They are fewer on the back of the tongue, because that part of it is used mainly to roll food and throw it into the throat.

The human tongue is comparatively smooth, showing we are descended from creatures that were vegetarians. A tiger's tongue is so rough it will draw blood if you allow him to lick your hand. The tongues of all carnivorous animals are armed with a number of small, sharp projections that curve backward.—Chicago Journal.

COULDN'T SEE THE AFFECTION

Many Will Understand Big Man's Failure to Detect Humor in Struggle With Car Window.

The big man with the fiery look on his face had been struggling with the car window for twenty minutes. Suddenly it came down on him and held him a prisoner. With much fuming and wriggling he finally released himself.

"Confound that blasted window!" he thundered, almost exploding with rage. "I feel like I could chew it up in bits, glass and all."

It was then that the humorous little man in the next seat touched him on the arm.

"My friend," he said, with a merry twinkle in his eyes, "don't be so angry with the window. Why, that window likes you. In fact, it is really affectionate."

"What! Are you joshing me? The window affectionate?"

"Certainly, sir. Didn't it fall on your neck?"

And then the humorous little man vanished toward the smoker.

Turtles.

"Tattoo," the word that, starting from unconnected sources in Holland and the South seas, has come to represent two unconnected things by the same sound and spelling, is an example of a curious trick of our language. Another is "turtle." Nowadays what it most commonly suggests is the creature that gives the soup; so that we have Mark Twain's young man in Palestine disgusted because the mud-turtle will not sing, though the voice of the "turtle" should be heard in the land. But the original English "turtle" was the dove (Latin "turtur," representing the sound of its voice). English sailors, coming across the creature which the Spaniards called "tortuga" (our "tortoise," from Latin "tortus," twisted, in allusion to its legs), made of it the "turtle" into which they were more familiar.

His Plea.

The Hon. John R. Boomwaller, the well-known statesman, having arisen in the middle of the night and discovered Ink Judson, an undesirable citizen of Senegambian descent, in his henhouse, proceeded to upbraid him lustily.

"But, uh-ho! on, honorable! Loopy yuh a minute; dess loopy yuh, sah!" expostulated the malefactor. "I owns right up dat you's kotch me in de act—yassah, I 'knowledges de cawn—but dess lemme 'scuseahly ax you, sah: As yo' is a memhub o' de legislature—and a pow'ful pompous one dey talls me, too—how kin yo' find it in yo' heart to holler dis-uh-way at a po' mizsable, ignunt nigger, for tryin' to make a dishonest dime or so in de on'y way he knows how?"—Judge.

Make Servant of Wild Bird.

Found wild in the forests of Venezuela, the yakamlik, a kind of crane, is readily tamed, becoming valuable servants to the Indians, who domesticate them. Their power of flight is limited, and they seldom attempt any distance in the air. Not only are they entrusted with the care of the flocks, herds, and poultry, but they are left as sole guardians of the babies. Certain species of the tribe found in Brazil further to the south are protected by law because of their recognized value as snake killers.

Valuable Nevada Gem Fields.

Nevada is now among the states that produce gems. The development of the opal beds of Humboldt county has been attended with considerable success, and a quantity of superior gem material has been obtained. The opal is of an unusual type, consisting of dark, translucent mineral with a variety of rich colors. The deposits promise to supply a gem equal if not superior to the opal from Australia.

DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. LeClear's Health—Her Own Statement.

Detroit, Mich.—"I am glad to discover a remedy that relieves me from my suffering and pains. For two years I suffered bearing down pains and got all run down. I was under a nervous strain and could not sleep at night. I went to doctors here in the city but they did not do me any good."

"Seeing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, I tried it. My health improved wonderfully and I am now quite well again. No woman suffering from female ills will regret it if she takes this medicine."—Mrs. JAMES G. LECLEAR, 336 Hunt St., Detroit, Mich.

Another Case.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is all you claim it to be. About two or three days before my periods I would get bad backaches, then pains in right and left sides, and my head would ache. I called the doctor and he said I had organic inflammation. I went to him for a while but did not get well so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I was relieved and finally my troubles left me. I married and have two little girls. I have had no return of the old troubles."—Mrs. CHAS. BOELL, 2650 S. Chadwick St., Phila., Pa.

AMUSEMENTS.

Richard Carle's merry musical gambol, "Mary's Lamb" with Den McGrath is scheduled to appear at Holland's Opera House Thursday night, November 6.

The piece is one of the most exquisite musical comedies that was ever sent on a tour and its melodies are of the humming and whistling kind.

The book, lyrics and music are by Richard Carle. There are fifteen musical gems, and all are individual hits. A large chorus of pretty girls and a cast of Metropolitan stage celebrities, gives assurance of a perfect rendition.—Advertisement.

Pleased With Stanley.

Last Monday was county court day, generally known as Ollie James day. But as Ollie could not be here, Hon. Owsley Stanley, Representative from the Second district, filled the appointment; and came as near filling Ollie's shoes as any man who ever spoke here.

He simply seemed to try himself, and held the great crowd spell-bound for nearly two hours. He preached Democracy straight from the shoulder, and made a fine impression on our people who heard him for the first time, and many expressed themselves as highly pleased with his speech and with the man himself. He promises to come back and see us again, as he was much gratified by the reception given him by the Caloway people.—Murray Times.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL GROCERS.

In a Class By Himself.

Congressman Gray, of Indiana, a Democrat, tried to introduce a resolution objecting to the members of the House giving a bridal present to the President's daughter. While Gray was speaking he waved a check for $5 which he said he would give to "some poor child who" at Christmas time peers through the window of a shop.

Representative Pau, of North Carolina, objected to any consideration of Gray's resolution, and no action was taken.

Mr. Mann, as Republican leader, ended the incident with a statement that it would "be hopeless to try to put into Mr. Gray's soul the expression which finds itself in the heart of every other member of the House. Other members do not need to be told why."

"HUMORIST" AGAIN AT LARGE

Easy to Recognize This as a Sample of the Work of the Dreaded "Clown in Private Life."

Smith was a constant worry to his friends. They never knew when to and when not to treat him seriously, since, as he frankly admitted, he delighted in pulling other people's legs.

One day he and Brown met casually in the street and stopped as friends often do to gossip for a while.

"Big blaze—that fire at the factory in Johnson street last night, wasn't it?" asked Brown.

"Yes," replied Smith; "I went down to have a look at it. And, my word, there were several mighty narrow escapes there, too!"

"Escapes!" cried Brown excitedly. "But the morning paper said that there was no one in the building."

Smith nodded. "Oh," he said, "the firemen brought the escapes down with them! So long, old chap!"

Brazil's Rubber.

A large part of the world's supply of crude rubber comes from the republic of Brazil, which has hitherto paid little attention to the manufacture of that commodity. Another day is coming. Brazil is about to engage intelligently in the manufacture of rubber, an enterprise which, in the course of time, may affect the manufacture of that material in the United States and Europe, by bringing in a new and formidable competitor. The Brazil Economic committee of Rio de Janeiro says that under favorable conditions offered by the government refineries of caoutchouc (rubber) will be established in a number of states and factories for the manufacture of rubber articles in the cities of Manaus, Belem in Para, Recife and Bahia. There will be special exemptions in the way of duties upon articles imported for the carrying forward of this enterprise.

Crocodile in a Tree.

An African hunter once found a large crocodile hanging in the fork of a tree about ten feet from the ground. As the place was fully half a mile from any water, it was difficult to account for the crocodile's strange position. When questioned upon the subject the natives explained that it was put there by an elephant. It seems that when the elephants wade into the Lake Ngami to bathe the crocodiles are in the habit of worrying them and biting their legs. Sometimes when an elephant is annoyed beyond endurance it picks up its tormentor in its trunk, puts it among the branches of a tree and leaves it there.

Period of Rigorous Fasting.

The fast of Ramadan, "the month of fasting heat," commemorates the period in which the first part of the Koran is said to have been received. When observed according to the commands of the prophet it is a fast of extraordinary rigor. No food or drink of any kind is permitted to be taken from daybreak until the appearance of the stars at night. This abstinence is absolutely binding upon the faithful, whether at home or abroad, and only those who are seriously ill are exempted from its provisions. These must keep the fast as soon afterward as possible, for a like number of days.

LAST DAY

Rush to Escape Penalty on the Payment of City Taxes.

Yesterday was the last day for paying city taxes to escape the penalty of 6 per cent and Collector Jno. W. Richards and his daughter, Miss Bessie Richards, were kept busy all day writing receipts. Unusually more than $40,000 of the city's finance, about half of the total amount, is paid in during the month of October and much of it the very last day. From now on the city treasurer will be in good condition.

TELEPHONE CASE

Applying to the City of Lexington Is Decided By The Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Court of Appeals, Judge Carroll dissenting, upheld a contract between the city of Lexington and the Fayette Home Telephone Company modifying the franchise of the company, which had limited its toll charges to $30 a year for business phones and $18 for residence.

Keene Lutes demanded a phone for $18 and being refused brought suit for a receiver for the company, a decree rendering the contract between the city and telephone company void and a mandatory injunction compelling the company to give him a phone for $18. The Court of Appeals affirming the Fayette Circuit Court, he'd that the city and the company had a right to modify the franchise by contract.

AT IT AGAIN.

Sprouse Is Cutting Prices In Another Big Sale.

The O. G. Sprouse Company has on another of its big sales and promises to break all records for magnitude. This live company has treated its friends and customers to many special sales, but this one, Mr. Sprouse says, surpasses any ever attempted in all his long experience in merchandising.

Think of a $75,000 stock of fall and winter goods offered the public at sacrifice prices this early in the season. A wonderful boon to the people who are wise enough to count the cost and we bespeak for this company great success in this their latest and greatest price sale. The sale will be on all next week and already the crowds are filling the two big store rooms on Ninth street.

If Impossible.

The News-Democrat put a great big IF before its article about baseball next season, as if Paducah would not have baseball, when the truth is the biggest town in the K. I. T. League could no more do without the game than Hopkinsville. We'll both have it.

HENSON A SURE WINNER

As The Dixon Journal Sizes Up The Situation.

The Journal takes great pleasure in announcing Judge J. W. Henson as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the coming primary.

Since Mr. Stanley entered the race for the Senate some months ago, there has been quite a desire in every section that Judge Henson enter the race for congress to succeed him.

The matter has been discussed all over the district for some time, the result being that a great many people everywhere have been assuring him of their support, and urging him to make the race.

The solicitations have been so strong, and from all classes, that Judge Henson feels that he should answer the call of his friends, which he does, as appears by his announcement elsewhere in this issue.

So great was his popularity that he was renominated and elected to the second term without opposition. His integrity has never been questioned, either as a private citizen or as an official. His judicial district is one of the most important in the state, yet his work on the bench has been remarkably successful, so much so that he is regarded as the peer of any judge in the state. He is on the most intimate terms with all classes, from the humblest to the highest, yet in discharging his duties he looks only to the justice of the cause, and not to the person.

By his fearless stand for law, he has reduced crime in his section until now we have but a small amount.

The people recognize in Judge Henson the strongest elements that are necessary in a position of such vast importance. To legislate for an hundred millions of people requires ability, energy, integrity, devotion to duty and a broad experience not only in law, but the wants and needs of people of all classes.

Judge Henson possesses all the essential qualifications in a high degree, and the Journal will be pleased to give him its best support.

He has lived most of his life in Webster county, and as a proof of his high standing and character, he has not an enemy perhaps in the county.

He was reared on a farm and is now interested in farming, but for about ten years he has held the office of circuit judge in the district composed of Webster, Union and Henderson counties, and it is safe to say no other judge has ever given more general satisfaction than he.

Judge Henson has always been devoted to the people and the best interests of this county and section, and since he has been on the bench, has at all times been a defender and advocate of our interests, and to him as much as to any man, is due the fact that today this county stands prominently in the list as one of the leading counties in the state.

He has been a consistent, active democrat, and has given liberally of his time and means to aid his party.

Judge Henson is just in the prime of life, and that he is splendidly equipped for this responsible office, no one doubts. He is a strong and convincing speaker, always carrying conviction by his earnestness, eloquence and logic, and the people of this county and district will no doubt love to honor him with the place.

He should, and doubtless will, sweep this county, assuming that Webster will have no other candidate, and the Journal believes he will win the nomination by a large majority.—Advertisement.

LEGAL RIGHTS MADE PLAIN

Verdict Rendered by French Court Will Be Hailed With Joy by All Theater Goers.

A verdict has just been given in the Paris courts which ought to rank as the magna charta of the theater goer, says the Boston Evening Transcript. Henceforth in Paris, at least, it is by law established that a spectator who pays his money at the box office has the right to see the stage; and, what is more, to see it without the necessity for acrobatics or contortion. Failing that, the manager must reimburse him. The plaintiff of forever-to-be-blessed memory in this test case was given a "strapontin"—despicable little folding gangway seat—from which it was possible by leaning at a perilous angle to catch a fugitive glimpse of the conductor of the orchestra. As that was not precisely what he had "come out for to see," he asked for his money back, and, receiving nothing but insults at the box office, sued the manager. He got what he sued for, and ten shillings damages as well. The court, in its verdict, concluded that it was the duty of theater directors, when they had nothing save badly placed seats at their disposal, to advise would-be spectators of the fact, and reimburse them should they find the seats unsatisfactory. Another tyranny is at an end.

ROYAL CHILD'S GRAVE REBUKE

Tsarevitch Resented Officer's Failure to Salute Him and Unfortunate Man's Naval Career Ends.

The Russian royal yacht Standart was the scene of an incident last October in which, says the New York Sun, the little Russian crown prince asserted himself with a great deal of childish dignity.

He was taking an airing on the deck of the yacht, accompanied by a lady, a friend of his mother. They passed an officer who was lolling in a chair, and puffing a cigarette. Whether he did not see the boy has not been explained, but he continued to take his ease as the boy and the lady passed by. He did not rise, as is the custom, and salute the son of his ruler.

The tsarevitch excused himself to his companion, and returned to confront the officer. The man rose to his full height and, with his hand at salute, looked down at the indignant boy. The tsarevitch glared at him indignantly.

"Sir," he piped forth, "I do not mind so much that you did not stand and salute me, as you should have done, but that you should not have done so when I had a lady with me was a very gross neglect!"

He turned on his heel and rejoined his companion. The officer was discharged that evening.

BASEBALL FAMILY.

She—What a queer family—just like a ball team!

He—Yes; we live on a farm, and my little brothers play in the outfield.—Judge.

POISON IN BEE STING.

When a bee stings it gives its victim a hypodermic injection of an irritant poison. This is the bee's defense against its enemies. In the abdomen of the bee lies a gland which secretes the poison. This passes down to a double bulb in which it is stored until needed. From the bulb a slender tube passes through the sharp sting which lies in a sheath. When the bee stabs its sting into the skin of the man the muscles squeeze the bulb of poison and a drop of this is squirted into the wound.

OLDTIME ORATORY.

Mrs. Helen P. Longstreet, widow of the famous soldier, said at Gettysburg, apropos of an oration that had failed:

"The windy, spread-eagle oratory of the past is dead, thank goodness. Such oratory reminds me of the boy who said:

"Pa, what is a brilliant conversationalist?"

"A brilliant conversationalist, my son," replied the old man, "is the woman who gets the first start."

THREE THINGS YOU NEED..

First—
"Kentuckian"
 A virile, new newspaper with the interest of the entire community at heart. Issues of the day are handled without fear or favor. You will find in this paper an up-to-date department for each member of the family. Clean, honest, straightforward—it is a paper your family should not be without.

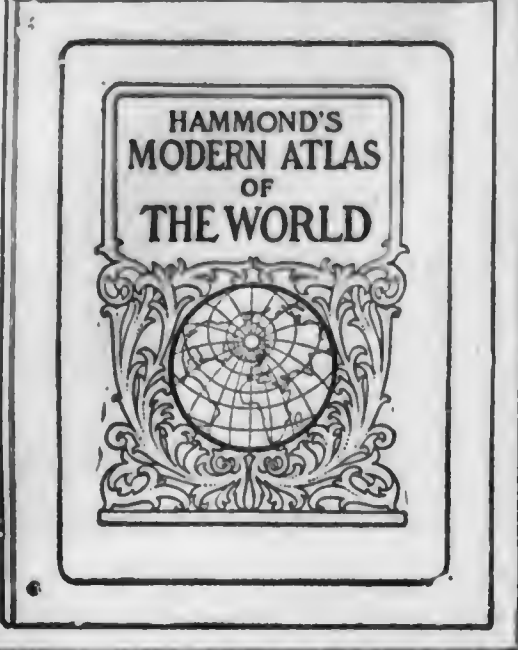

Second—
Technical World Magazine
 It is the magazine that not only entertains in a fascinating manner, but which also instructs. It is the magazine for the busy business man, or for the person who wants to tell away a summer's afternoon, and be agreeably informed at the same time. It is a magazine that tells in a simple and interesting way of the discoveries of scientists, the achievements of inventors, the feats of engineers and explorers, and the opening of every new field of human endeavor. What Jack London says:—"I have just chanced upon my first copy of TECHNICAL WORLD MAGAZINE. There isn't anything like it. I want more, and I cannot wait for them to come, so I am sending you herewith check for which please enter my subscription and send me immediately the last two years' back numbers."

Third—
A Fine Atlas
 This one is just off the presses. This is the year to obtain a new atlas. The 1910 Census has just been completed, this atlas contains the official figures, 125 pages of 3 color maps brought right down to date—every map giving the results of the most recent surveys. All railroads are shown and named and maps of all large cities are included. There are 21 double page maps showing in detail portions of the U. S. and Canada. Dimensions 10 1/2 x 13 1/2. Bound in stiff linen—Silver Leaf Title—printed on heavy plate paper. Sells regularly for $5.00. A splendid gift.

ALL THREE Only $3.80

Special arrangement with Technical World Magazine and the publishers of this Atlas make this offer possible. But it is very strictly limited. You must act immediately.

HIS METHOD OF LIVELIHOOD
 New Jersey Man Catches All Sorts of Bait for Black Bass to Sell to Fishermen.

Standing on the towpath looking intently down into the water of the old Morris canal, in a stretch of it in Morris county, N. J., was a man whose right hand presently shot down suddenly to snap up something out of the water, which he quickly transferred to a curious little box about a foot square he had in his other hand.

A pedestrian on the towpath who wondered what all this meant saw when he had come near that the box had wire screens for sides. Just now there were in the box a dozen or two spring toads, a species of frog found around springs and in marshy places and also called the old-fashioned tobacco toad and the leopard frog. It was a spring toad that the man had suddenly snapped up out of the water and put into the box a moment before.

The pedestrian learned that the frog catcher makes a business of catching these frogs to sell as bait for black bass to fishermen, and he had caught 480 on that day, using no net, catching them with his hands alone.

This man catches also for bait hellgramites, crawfish and grasshoppers. He also hunts bullfrogs for their hind legs. A license is required to catch bullfrogs in Morris and Passaic counties. Spring toads for bait he ships to neighboring fishing localities in kegs, loosely packed in wet grass. For fifteen years he has been following the business of catching black bass bait, working at it regularly from May to October.

OLD QUESTION HERE AGAIN
 English Author This Time Avers That Women Usually Place Affections Wrongly.

Does a woman—every woman—love a rake? An English author says so. He says this is the reason men wear their hats on one side. A bad man, he asserts, is a good woman's harmless adventure.

"It is like playing with fire. She doesn't want to be scorched, but it's rather amusing to go as near the flame as possible. Besides—and this always mollifies her conscience—she may succeed in making him better."

"Women have quite a pathetic belief in the reformation of the man they happen to be in love with," he says. "They never realize that every one of us is what the beloved desires us to be as long as we are in love with the beloved. It is only when the novelty of the emotion wears thin that we return to type. That is why so many married people look so sad."

"Sometimes I fancy that every woman has once to waste her devotion over a bad object in order later on to appreciate a good one when it comes her way, and incidentally to become better herself."

"The way to perfection is a complicated business, leading through the strangest, darkest and most mysterious of alleys."

"Sometimes, indeed, we have to pass through filth in order to reach the light. O, if only the good people realized that!"

TRADE IN LICORICE ROOT.
 Thousands of tons of licorice root an article that by the natives generally is esteemed a pest and worthless, are annually gathered in Turkey for exportation to America for use in the manufacture of chewing and smoking tobacco as well as for flavoring confectionery and beer. The principal collecting stations are Bagdad, Alexandretta and Smyrna, at which places the exporters maintain offices, hydraulic presses and warehouses. The business is largely controlled by an American concern.

TAKING NO CHANCES.
 Dugald was ill, and his friend Donald took a bottle of whisky to him. Donald gave the invalid one glass and said:
 "Ye'll get anither ano in the mornin'."

About five minutes elapsed, and then Dugald suddenly exclaimed:
 "Ye'd better let mem hae the ither uoc, Donald; he hear o' sae mony sudden deaths noocadays."—Housior Chronicle.

DRASTIC MEASURES.

 Younglove—Well, let's make sure You begin spanking, and I'll go for the doctor.—Puck.

HIS MOMENT OF INSPIRATION
 Sight of Dying Friend Inspired Verdi With Mournful Notes of the "Miserere" in "Trovatore."

When the composer Verdi was working on his well-known opera "Il Trovatore," he stopped short at the "Miserere," being at loss to combine notes of sufficient sadness and pathos to express the grief of the prisoner, Manrico.

Sitting at his piano in the deep stillness of the winter night, his imagination wandered back to the stormy days of his youth, endeavoring to extract from the past a plaint, a groan, like those which escaped from his breast when he saw himself forsaken by the world. All in vain! One day, at Milan, he was unexpectedly called to the bedside of a dying friend, one of the few who had remained true to him in adversity and prosperity. Verdi, at the sight of the dying friend, felt a lump rise in his throat; he wanted to weep, but so intense was his grief that not a tear flowed to the relief of his anguish.

In an adjoining room stood a piano. Verdi, under one of those sudden impulses to which men of genius are sometimes subject, sat down at the instrument, and there and then improvised "Miserere" of the "Trovatore." The musician had given utterance to his grief.

USE LIME TO THAW GROUND
 Engineer Describes Process Which Enabled Him to Continue Operations During the Winter.

In describing some difficult sewer construction at West Liberty, Iowa, Charles P. Chase, the engineer in charge, gave the following details regarding the use of lime to overcome frost:

The work was carried on through the whole winter, when the ground was frozen to a depth of four feet, in which state it resisted all efforts of a trenching machine to break through it. The lime was spread over the frozen ground, covering the width of the trench to be opened, and was then broken up into small pieces and covered thickly with straw, hay or manure. Water was then poured on the straw so as to thoroughly slack the lime. Hot water was found best and hastened the slacking. The covering retained the heat, which, with the hot water, penetrated the frozen ground sufficiently to enable the trenching machine to make headway. On another job a covering of old boards with a steam jet was used to hurry up the process. The same process has been successfully employed in Clinton, Iowa, where the contractor continued work with interruption throughout the winter.—Engineering News.

NO WONDER SHE BLUSHED.

"That's a nice-looking fellow who's just come in," said the young man who was dining with his best girl. "Is he a friend of yours?"

"Yes, indeed; I know him well," laughed the maiden.

"Shall I ask him to join us?"

"Oh, George!" said the girl, blushing; "this is so sudden."

"Sudden? What do you mean?" he asked in surprise.

"Why—why that's our young minister."—Ladies' Home Journal.

MORE OF IT.

A well-known Baltimore lady, who thinks nothing of sailing for Europe on a day's notice, was talking with an acquaintance about the furore over Walter Johnson.

"I don't think so much of his pitching," she said.

"Yes," answered the other, "but you have seen so many ocean liners pitch."

EXPLAINED.

"Don't you think Blabworth has unusual strength of character?"

"No. He left the ball game this afternoon with the score tied in the last half of the ninth inning because his boss sent a messenger boy after him."

VICTIMS OF IVY POISONING
 Physician Refuses to Pity Those Who Suffer From This Most Annoying Affliction.

"I think I have had more cases of ivy poisoning this spring and summer than in any five years of my practice," said the physician as he chatted with the druggist.

"In which experience mine just about tallies with yours, now that I come to think about it," replied the druggist. "There have been a lot of people drift in here and want to know what is a remedy for ivy poisoning. There has always been about the same story—motor party, wild flows, ivy poison. What's the reason?"

"Two good ones, probably. Scarcity of wild flowers in the first place, owing to the vandalism that wants all it can see each season and so decreased the supply and made those that remain less easily accessible. Poking about in the dark spots has made the searchers for the flowers rub again the ivy. The other reason is that the unusual weather of the spring has made ivy more virulent than usual."

"Strikes me as a sort of retributive justice. Most of the people who get into the woods become vandals when they gather wild flowers—pull them up by the roots, lop off branches so as to kill a bush or tree and never think that nature cannot reproduce unless something is left to reproduce with. Between you and me, most of them deserve all the ivy poisoning they get."

NOW THEY DON'T SPEAK

Clara—I always said I'd never marry a man who drank, but in Dick's case I don't know what to do. What do you think?

Edith—Don't do it. Dick's got troubles enough now.

GERMAN RED TAPE.

A "red tape" comedy has been enacted at Leipsig, Germany, where the Zeppelin passenger airship Sachsen is stationed. Dr. Eekener, Count Zeppelin's right-hand man, who has made over 450 aerial voyages, was about to steer the Sachsen on a trip when the police prohibited the voyage because he could not produce an official pilot's certificate. The incident is the more amusing because Dr. Eekener is one of the three men in Germany who are able to grant airship pilots' certificates. He could have made one out for himself on the spot, but preferred to telegraph to the Berlin officials. They telegraphed in reply that he had a certificate. The police refused to accept this evidence, as "a telegram is not a document."

DOUCHE FOR A PEDANT.

Prof. Thomas R. Lounsbury of Yale is a foe to the purist and the pedant, as his brilliant essays show. He who insists on saying "Tomorrow will be Thursday" will find no champion in Professor Lounsbury.

One New England vacation the professor gazing out across the lake one gray and sultry afternoon, remarked:

"It looks like rain."

A pedant was rocking in a rocking chair near by.

"What looks like rain, professor?" he chuckled. "Ha, ha! I've got you there! What looks like rain?"

"Water," Professor Lounsbury answered coldly.

NO USE FOR IT WHATEVER.

In one of his Labor day addresses D. L. Gould, head of the curtain operatives of American, said of a sermon preached by a bishop that advocated humility, resignation, respect for our superiors, etc.:

"I don't believe in the resigned spirit. I believe in discontent. I advocate a constant struggle to make bad things better."

"They tell us—sweet are the uses of adversity," but few are they, I answer, who have any use for it."

CANNOT MAKE RAIN FALL

Newspaper Ridicules the Efforts Made to Compel Moisture to Descend.

Warm air is like a sponge. It will suck up a lot of moisture and carry it without spilling any. But if warm air, well loaded with moisture, is suddenly cooled, the sponge is squeezed and the moisture falls out as rain.

Twenty years ago some hopeful gentlemen went to the arid regions of Texas and exploded a lot of dynamite, on the theory that the concussion would mix the strata of warm air near the earth with the cooler strata above, and so cause the necessary precipitation of moisture.
There happened to be light showers about the time of the experiments, which encouraged the experimenters,
but didn't convince anybody else.

The fact is that nature's rain-making machine is too gigantic to be affected by the puny efforts of humans—at least by any methods so far discovered.

Nature pumps the moisture-laden air up into the cold regions of the upper atmosphere with a wheel a thousand miles in diameter. When this tremendous wheel of air is revolving normally it hoists millions of tons of water vapor to an elevation where it can no longer be carried in solution and so falls in rain.

When the wheel is off adjustment it is as futile to bombard the sky with dynamite as it would be to fire popgun corks at the side of the latest dreadnought.—Kansas City Star.

BRING RARE FLOWER CLOSER

Experiments in Acclimatizing Edelweiss Declared to Have Been Fairly Successful.

Edelweiss will soon be within the reach of all. Hitherto it has been necessary to scale the perilous Alpine heights to pluck this blossom of the snows, whose purity and difficulty of attainment made it to Emerson a symbol of the ideal. Experiments in acclimatizing edelweiss in the lower reaches of the Jura have been successful. In 1905 a number of roots were transplanted to a sheltered site in the vicinity of Basel, and some of these have prospered.
Soon, therefore, it will be possible to gather that rare flower without any other exertion than taking the nearest trolley. Thus is recorded one more step in the process of supplying the average man, at a reasonable, flat rate, with the sensations formerly reserved for the elect. A trip to the top of the Jungfrau may now presumably be booked through Cook's. It requires no imagination to foresee the time when private apartments may be supplied with a combination music box and refrigerating device capable of producing the joint sensation of Wagner listening to the first performance of his "Rienzi" and Peary unfurling the American flag at the north pole.—
New York Evening Post.

MORE ROCKS AND SHOALS.

In the report of the navy hydrographer of the British admiralty for 1912 he states that during the year no less than 509 rocks and shoals were reported by naval vessels, 120 by surveying ships, nine were found by vessels striking upon them, 59 were reported by various British and foreign authorities, and 311 were reported by colonial and foreign governments.

WHY HE TREMBLED.

"Jaggs tells me he saw a large green bug in his office the other morning and it frightened him considerably."
"Pshaw! You don't mean to tell me that Jaggs is afraid of a bug?"
"No, he isn't afraid of a real bug, but when he sees anything like that he likes to have a witness near at hand to corroborate it."

MERE AVOIRDUPOIS.

"Has Dobbs much weight in this community?"
"Only so much weight as the scales show."

RAILROAD TERM.

"There goes Mr. Dobbs, Arthur
Dobbs, Angelica Dobbs and Augustus Dobbs, all in a row."
"Yes, a string of empties."

HARD TO DO.

"Life is a serious proposition to Doublewhite."
"Indeed it is. He tries to follow all the health rules."

COLD WATER A GOOD TONIC

Must Be Used With Care, but Its Results Are Seldom Other Than of the Greatest Benefit.

Like other remedial agents, water is not adapted to every case. There are conditions of health as well as disease when a cold bath might be fatal in effect, says the National Food Magazine. Peculiarities of temperament and disposition, and individual susceptibilities must be considered in water cures. Generally it is a wholesome habit to acquire, and one that is rarely carried to excess. A cold bath is most beneficial taken when the system is relaxed by indolence, sleeplessness or mental unrest. During convalescence its cautious use is productive of the happiest results. A cold shock from a shower of water is often beneficial for constipation, while in catarrhal and liver troubles cold water is essential in the treatment.

Of course attention to details is of the greatest importance. Done in five minutes, in a comfortable temperature, and the whole body rubbed or brushed into a glow of warmth, the desired results should be obtained, whereas delay, negligence in making the toilet and ignorant ex-posure to chill will make the bath hurtful instead of beneficial. People who take cold easily will find a daily bath an effectual prevention. For these unfortunates designated as nerve prostrated, habitual cold dips before breakfast or after any great strain upon the nerves or emotions in business, domestic or social intercourse promise the best results.

AT THE MUSICAL

She—Mr. Pounder certainly is a vigorous piano player.
He—I was just wondering what the piano ever done to him.

SAME OLD SUIT.

Hemmandhaw—Here is an interesting article on dress.
Mrs. Hemmandhaw—What is it all about?
H.—Lecturer describes the clothes which women will be wearing one hundred years from now.
Mrs. H.—Huh! That doesn't interest me a particle.
H.—Why not?
Mrs. H.—Because, unless something wonderful happens, I will still be wearing that same old blue velvet suit I've had ever since we were married.

CANARD.

"My dear," said Mrs. Scraggs to her husband, "what is a canard?"
"Don't you know what a canard is?" queried Scraggs, rather sneeringly. "Why, the word itself conveys its own meaning."
"Does it? Well, really, I can't see it. What does it mean, dear?"
"Why, a canard is something one canardly believe, of course."

UNUSUAL.

"I might have known that Dobbs would do something extraordinary in later life."
"Why so?"
"Well, for one thing, he went through college without falling in love with the college widow."

HIS CHOICE.

"Our geologist friend is eating fish for a brain diet."
"Then I suppose his preference is for rock."

ALMOST A STRANGLE HOLD.

"My good man, you seem to have felt the pinch of poverty."
"The 'pinch,' sir? Great Scott!
I've felt poverty's half-Nelson."

HABITS AND COSTUMES.

Griggs—My wife has a habit of spending money before she gets it.
Briggs—Mine is worse; she spends it before I get it myself.

Woman Past Help.

Chandler, Okla.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Ella Flowers says: "I hardly know how to thank you for the good Cardui has done me. Before I tried Cardui, I thought I was past help, but after taking it I was relieved at once, and gained at least 10 pounds. Everybody says I look much better. I am still improving greatly." Many women are completely worn out and discouraged,

MRS. GLORE PRESIDENT

D. A. R.'s Elected Officers and Adjourned.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 31.—After one of the most successful meetings it has ever held in the Kentucky conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution closed its seventeenth annual convention last afternoon with the election of officers and selection of the 1914 meeting place.

The officers elected were: Regent, Mrs. Walter S. Glore, of Danville; Vice-regent, Mrs. J. W. Caperton of Richmond; secretary, Miss Jennie G. Raile of Danville; treasurer, Mrs. D. B. Sperry, of Louisville; historian, Miss Emily Morrow of Paducah; consulting registrar, Mrs. J. W. Gale, of Frankfort. By a vote of fifteen to sixteen, Bowling Green was selected over Frankfort for the conference meeting place next year.

BAPTIST MEETING

Will Continue Throughout Next Week—23 Additions.

The revival at the First Baptist Church continues to draw big crowds and Dr. Dew's sermons twice a day are powerful appeals to the unconverted. Scripture readings are a regular feature, the Scripture references being read as called for by Dr. Dew by readers on the stand. His knowledge of the Bible is wonderful. Important special services will be held tomorrow. Mr. Rayborne, the singer, is an effective choir leader and good music is heard at every service. The meeting will continue throughout next week.

Up to yesterday there had been 23 additions to the church.

Dr. and Mrs. Dew are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Breathitt.

CUT HIS FOOT

Wound Caused The Loss of Much Blood.

Bennie Adcock, son of Mr. J. F. Adcock, who resides near Herndon, while chopping wood cut his left foot, making a very painful wound and causing much loss of blood. The member was nearly severed and the injury will lay him up for some time. His condition yesterday was quite satisfactory.

Unveiling Tomorrow

The Woodmen of the World will unveil the monument of the late A. H. Adwell Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A splendid program has been arranged in connection with the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Woodmen.

Mr. Leslie Boxley will deliver the memorial address and an appropriate musical program will be furnished by the Woodman Quartet. The Uniform Rank will also take part in the services.

The members of the Order will assemble at their lodge room at 2 p. m. and march in a body, led by the Uniform Rank, to the cemetery.

Brown-Dunlop.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Dunlop, of Clarksville, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mattie, and Mr. Allen Brown, of Franklin, Tenn.

To Honor Brides.

Mrs. James M. Forbes will entertain the Bridge Club next Wednesday with two brides—Mrs. Will F. Forbes and Mrs. Walter E. How—as the guests of honor.

Mrs. J. C. James, of Virginia, who had been here on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Geo. T. Herndon, returned home this week, accompanied by her niece, Miss Lilly Tate, who will spend some time visiting relatives in the Old Dominion.

First Frost.

The first frost of the season that killed vegetation appeared yesterday morning. There had been ice and snow but no real frost up to that time.

Dr. PRESTRIDGE'S DEATH.

Baptist World Publishing Company and one of the most prominent Baptist educators, died of heart disease at 9 o'clock yesterday morning while seated in an arm chair reading, at his home in the Weissinger-Gaulbert apartments.

His wife had stepped out of the apartment for a few minutes and when she returned found him numb. Physicians were hastily summoned. They pronounced him dead.

Dr. Prestridge was a native of Selma, Ala., and a graduate of Howard College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He was pastor of churches in Winchester, New Castle, Williamsburg and Hopkinsville in Kentucky, and San Antonio, Tex. He founded the Baptist Argus, now known as the Baptist World, one of the most widely circulated religious papers in this country.

Known In Many Climes.

Dr. Prestridge was known not only in America as a religious worker, but in many foreign countries. He held the office of American secretary of the Baptist World Alliance, a body which promotes Baptist efficiency throughout the world. His wide acquaintance made him a conspicuous figure, honored and loved wherever Baptists are known.

He was author of the publication, "The Church, a Composite Life," in which he set forth the guiding principles of life.

He returned Tuesday night from Chicago, where he served as secretary of the American Executive Committee of the Baptist World Alliance, the alliance having resulted from suggestions made by him in the Baptist World. The Rev. Dr. W. W. Landrum was with him in Chicago and accompanied him home, arriving here yesterday morning on an early train. The minister seemed to be in perfect health at that time. He was 60 years of age.

Survived By Widow.

News of Dr. Prestridge's death was a shock wherever mentioned. He is survived by his widow, who was the daughter of Dr. J. D. Clardy, of Hopkinsville, Ky., formerly a member of Congress from that district.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Broadway Baptist church at 4 o'clock this afternoon. They will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. John R. Sampey, professor of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. O. Carver, the Rev. Dr. E. Y. Mullins and the Rev. Dr. Lanarum. The pallbearers will be Dr. Mullins, Dr. Charles S. Gardner, B. H. DeMent, Dr. A. T. Robertson, Dr. Thomas A. Johnson, Dr. W. G. McGlothlin, K. B. Grahn and George L. Burton. The body will be sent to Hopkinsville for burial in the family lot.

Vote "Yes," Everybody.

Nobody should fail to vote "Yes" next Tuesday on the tax amendment question, as a change in the manner of assessments is one of the things now most needed by Kentucky. Put the stamp in the little square alongside "yes" and you will have done one of the best things you have ever done since you were old enough to vote.

Apoplexy Causes Death.

Mrs. Mary D. Haden, wife of Frank C. Haden, a Warren county farmer, died Tuesday night at the Western Hospital of hemorrhage of the brain, aged 52 years. She was received at the institution about six months ago. The remains were shipped to Bowling Green for interment.

George Clark Responded.

Mr. Geo. M. Clark responded to the address of welcome by Mr. G. Allison Holland, at the meeting of the Eastern Star Lodge in Lexington, Thursday. Mr. Clark, who has been prominent in the Hopkinsville Chapter, is rapidly attaining high standing in the grand lodge.

Vacancies Filled.

The Board of Election Commissioners Low Johnson, Sheriff, E. W. Coleman and W. T. Fowler, met Thursday and supplied several vacancies on the election boards for Tuesday, where parties appointed declined to serve.

MRS. B. M. TRABUE,

After Lingerin Illness, Died Thursday, Near Pembroke.

After an illness of almost a year, Mrs. Bessie Trabue, wife of B. M. Trabue, died at her home about a mile south of Pembroke, last Thursday. She is survived by her husband and four children, two boys and two girls, one of them an infant of eight months. Mrs. Trabue was the daughter of the late Eugene Morrison, Sr., and was a faithful member of the Pembroke Baptist church. She was a most excellent woman and was loved by all, for her many loving deeds and gentle disposition. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, conducted by Dr. Scott and the remains were laid to rest in the Cemetery at Pembroke.

Mrs. Eaton Acquitted.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, on trial at Plymouth, Mass., for the murder of her husband, Admiral Jos. G. Eaton, brought in a verdict of acquittal, after being out eleven hours. Mrs. Eaton was formerly a widow much younger than the Admiral. They were married in 1907 and their five years of married life was unhappy.

Something Always Doing.

With two services daily at the Baptist church, a three days aviation carnival and a red-hot political campaign closing with speeches at the court house and the Tabernacle, Hopkinsville has sustained her reputation for having something going on all the time. And next week will open up with the election on Tuesday.

False Swearing Charged.

Two negroes were arrested the early part of the week on warrants charging false swearing in making affidavits to register. Tom McCullam and Wesley McKnight were the men taken into custody. The examination trial is set for this morning at 9 o'clock.

To The Public, Citizens of Hop- kinsville and Christian County.

I have given much thought to the benefits that will come to our people if we can carry by a big majority of votes the much needed Tuberculosis Sanatorium, where the people who suffer with this dread disease can be properly taken care of.

I heartily endorse it.

Go To Princeton.

The Hopkinsville High School football team have arranged to go to Princeton today to play a return game with the High School of that place.

BEAUTY A CURSE

So Says a Noted Model Who At- tempted Suicide a Few Days Since.

Hopkinsville has scores of beautiful girls but they have too much brains in their heads, and besides no reason for attempting suicide, as did Miss Hazel Dean, a noted model beauty of New York, last week, in Central Park. She gave as her reason that she could not make an honest living. It is almost the universal desire of women to be pretty, but Byron said once that it was dangerous, and Miss Dean is quoted as saying, "Beauty is the worse curse that a girl can possibly bear."

Coal Men Strike.

Sparta, Wis.—The city of 4,000 population is experiencing a real freeze-out. All orders received at the three main coal yards of the city were rejected and buyers were notified that it was impossible to operate under the city's new ordinance which requires all coal to be weighed on the city scales. One small coal yard remains, but it cannot meet the demand. The thermometer dropped below freezing point Wednesday.

Mrs. Barksdale Hamlett will arrive today on a visit to Mrs. Walter Radford.

HALLOWE'EN

Was Not Observed as Vigorous- ly As of Old.

Young people are becoming more civilized, or the absence of front gates prevented the usual vigorous observance of Hallowe'en last night, much to the gratification of more staid citizens. The spooks that were out, in small numbers, had some fun but it did not cost very much. The usual number of parties and different kinds of functions, so far as reported, seem to have been forgotten, or, else the efficiency of the police was feared.

Students on Strike.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Four hundred students of the Lackawanna Union School chiefly of the high school department went on a strike to secure a change in the school hours. The strikers demand that the school begin at 8:30 a. m. and close at 1 p. m. The present hours are 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., with an hour and a quarter for lunch.

About Hunting.

You can kill quail from November 15th to January 1st, as well as rabbits and squirrels, but you cannot sell or offer for sale quail or wild turkeys, though rabbits may be bought, sold or shipped under certain conditions.
